REPORT

A longtime friend and church member, Betty, visits Ruth regularly.

She said she saw bruises on Ruth when she recently helped her to the bathroom.

Ruth's adult daughter, Nancy, is her live-in caregiver.

Betty asked Nancy about the bruises and said she was very vague and started talking about how difficult Ruth is to care for and how much Nancy has given up of her own life to do it.

Nancy has been discouraging Betty's visits recently, saying her mother is too tired after she leaves.

Betty said she has delayed making this report because Nancy is a good churchwoman and has always been a loving daughter.
